2014 Celebrate Life!

February 15th, 2014 turned out to be a lovely, sunny day and absolutely perfect for our next Celebrate Life event. I say turned out because the preceding days were cold and wet. But God smiled on us and chose to give us glorious weather as we had requested.

We chose the KBN grounds again for their beauty and the natural ambience which is such a huge part of our event. Our guests, women going through cancer accompanied by a supporter, began arriving at noon and soon after, we had a full house. We choose to make this a small, intimate gathering so that we are able to interact with and get to know each other during the four hours or so that we are together.

Our MC, Mildred Obuya, did a fabulous job of helping us all relax and unwind and of course being pampered from head to toe also contributed to the happy and festive mood that permeated the air. We had women going through chemo for different forms of cancers, and others going through radiotherapy, and all were quite happy to put aside worries and cares of treatment and just focus on celebrating being a woman – a woman, who chooses to enjoy being alive and though going through a tough walk, still chooses to keep her head up.

We were deeply challenged by Esther and her team of masseuse from Therapeutic Shiatsu, a self-help group. The girls who do the massages are blind or partially blind but have given themselves to do this as a way to give back to society. They have chosen not to let their situation dictate their circumstance or what they can or cannot do! Esther is doing a wonderful job in empowering these young women.

By the end of the event, we had all recommitted to enjoy love and life as a gift from God, and to cherish the family and friends He has surrounded us with. We continue to pray for strength to endure this journey for every Victor, and that they truly will come out victorious. For every Supporter, we pray grace and strength and an infilling of love and tremendous blessings for all they do for us with such kindness and such grace.

We thank all those who contributed to make it a super special day. First to the Lord for hearing our specific requests for dry ground and clear skies, to the team led by Amelia that worked to ensure that everything went smoothly and according to plan, to our partners: GeoJoy Tents & Events for the lovely deco, Black Swan Media for the glam shots, Mutheu of KeNako for providing a piece of jewellery for every Victor, Naomi of ELF for providing makeup for the guests goodie bag, KBN for hosting us, Patricia Party Lounges for the cute bar stools, Mapambo for the pretty bracelets which each guest received in their gift bag. To our sponsors, we deeply appreciate your generosity and kindness and thank you for joining us in making this a special day for our lovely guests. Our sponsors were Gourmet Lynk who provided the snacks for the day, Sammy and the team from Ashleys Hair & Beauty Academy who did a fabulous job on our hair and nails, Liz of Altus Health who did health checks and gave advice, Muthoni Njoba who did our makeup, David Makuyu of Kipawa who provided sound and music, X-Media for continued coverage of our events, Nancy of Fruit Paradise who provided fresh fruit juice, Mark Masai who hooked us up with the crew from NTV, the anonymous donor who gave water, all the volunteers who came out to help in whatever way they could, and all those who contributed financially to help make the day happen.

We are thankful to Secretly Yours and to Ragnhild who provided Breast Prosthesis and Bras respectfully, enabling us to donate these to those who required them.

To those who nominated a Victor, bless you! And to our guests: thank you for honouring us with your presence, thank you for sharing your joy and pain, thank you for allowing us at Twa the privilege of serving you. We hope we have helped to make your journey a little lighter. Know that you are precious to the Lord and no matter what you go through, you are never alone.

We look forward to the next Celebrate Life event, anticipating we shall get many more sponsors coming on board to help make this day stand out in a positive way for every guest that attends.
